MAKING HISTORY

Teckell has transformed the games we love to play. From pool to chess, the games are crafted from the finest crystal and natural materials for professional-level playing and unprecedented style.

Table tennis is getting the Teckell touch with its model Effetto 71. Hear in a whole new way the ball's delightful ping-pong, which gave the game its nickname.

The name Effetto 71 honors that signature bounce and ping-pong's ability to foster peace and unity. In 1971, the Chinese government invited the U.S. table tennis team to visit China for a series of friendly matches, even though the two countries had severed diplomatic ties decades earlier. The young Chinese and U.S. players transcended borders and cultural differences around ping-pong tables. These matches represented the beginning of a renewed relationship.

It takes a simple movement to transform this game table into a minimal living room table.

Teckell Effetto 71 further transforms the sport with its crystal table top.

Far from fragile, the transparent material is rock solid and the ball bounces smoothly for a fast, fluid game. The solid American walnut legs are shaped to represent the ball's trajectory inverted and harken back to the lines often seen in 1950s and '60s Italian design.
